The End Of The Millennium

THE OATH OF HIPPOCRATES

I swear by Apollo the Physician, by Aesculapius, Hygieia, and Panacea, and by all I hold most sacred that according to my ability and judgment I will keep this oath and this stipulation: That I will be loyal to the profession of medicine, and just and generous to its members. That I will lead my life and practice my art in uprightness and honor. That into whatsoever home I shall enter, it shall be for the good of the sick and the well to the utmost of my power, and that I will hold myself aloof from wrong and corruption and from tempting to voice. That I will exercise my art solely for the care of my patients and the prevention of disease, and will give no drugs and perform no operation for a criminal purpose and far less suggest such a thing. That whatsoever I shall see or hear of the lives of men which is not fitting to be spoken, I will keep inviolably secret. While I continue to keep this oath inviolate may it be granted into me to enjoy life and the practice of the art, respected by all men in all times. But, should I trespass and violate this oath, may the reverse be my lot

HIPPOCRATES (CIRCA: 400 BC)

The 1999 Pylon Is Dedicated To JOHN WILLIAM TRAUBERT, M.D.

Dean Traubert, Dean of Student Affairs, is retiring after many years of serving as a student advocate. "Med school used to be a lot about intimidation," he said, "and we have worked to change that." Having initiated the faculty teaching development program, the White Coat Ceremony, and many other programs, Dean Traubert has left a lasting legacy that will benefit WVU medical students for years to come. The Dean looks forward to spending more time on his hobbies, photography and woodworking. We wish him the best.

The Oath of Hippocrates

I do solemnly swear that I will hold most sacred, that I will be helpful to the sick, that I will practice medicine and just and generous treatment for all, that I will lead my life and practice in a dignified and honorable manner.

That into whatever house I shall enter it shall be for the good of the sick and far evil to the utmost of my power and that I will hold myself aloof from wrong and corruption and from tempting of others to vice. That I will exercise my Art, solely for the benefit of my patients and the prevention of disease and will give no drugs and perform no operation for a criminal purpose and far less suggest such a thing. That whatsoever I shall see or hear of the lives of men which is not fitting to be spoken, I will keep inviolably secret.

These things I do promise and in proportion as I am faithful to this oath, may happiness and good repute be ever mine, the opposite if I shall be forsworn.

Growing like a weed. Every year the Intro to Medicine class makes a trip to Riverside Elementary to show kids they don't have to be afraid of going to the doctor.

Getting jiggy with it, med students use lots of creative ways to get the kids interested in adopting healthy habits.

That's my funny bone! BK Vaught with student who was skeptical at first.

No potatoes in here. Riverside students also benefit from MS II's visit by getting free screenings.

TAKING THE OATH

Being On Your Honor

MS I students sign their names in the book, pledging to maintain the integrity and standards upheld by the WVU School of Medicine. Parents watch as med students are welcomed by Dr. Woody Moss.

"As an entering medical student of West Virginia University School of Medicine, I understand that I am responsible for my behavior and that I must uphold the highest standards of academic and professional integrity throughout my education and the remainder of my professional life."

"I understand that to maintain my own standards, and those of the WVU School of Medicine and the medical profession, I am obliged to monitor my own conduct and that of my peers."

"My signature indicates my pledge to abide by the Student Code of Academic and Professional Integrity for the M.D. Degree Program."

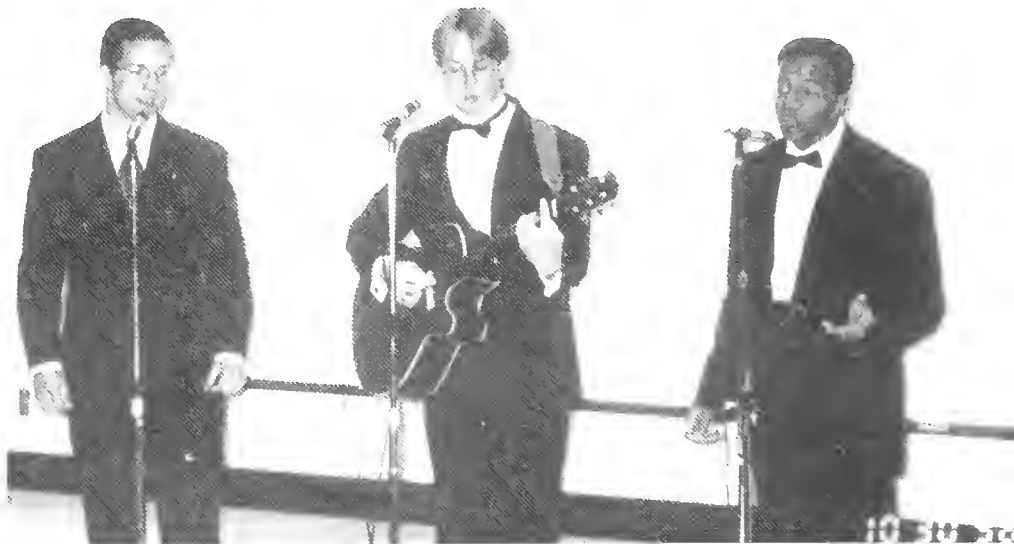

STUDENT LIFE

WVU Med Students Are As Diverse As Their Patients.

The Annual Talent Show raises money for charities. This year $1300 was raised for WVU Children's Hospital.

Dynamic Duo, Edith Sarino and Patrick Hurley

Ho-down, sing or dance, all acts were enjoyed.

Just Add Water: Carol White gets ready to take a plunge. Scuba, kayaking, fly fishing, this gal does it all.

What's Cooking: One of Jeff Williams' passions is good food. He prepares a meal, look out lots of garlic.

For Members Only

AMWA

Kate DelPizzo, here with Kelli Dumm and their sponsor, started a Chapter of American Medical Women's Association this year. Not pictured but still going strong are the CMDS, AMSA and the Emergency Medicine interest group.

WVSMA

Stephen Greer, Brian Grose and Pete Pantelidis have been members of WVSMA since their first year. The WVSMA plays an active role in shaping the future of medical practice through local and state lobbying.

BEHIND THE SCENES HEROES

Off without a hitch! Brenda, Pam, Sherri and Debbie all smiles at the Match Day Brunch

Dean of Student Affairs, Dr. John Traubert is stepping down after many years of devoted service improving education for medical students.

With schedules crunched for time and students on the run, the Student Affairs office can be counted on for assistance with a smile.

THANK YOU ALUMNI!

Through the gifts from the alumni, Alumni Affairs sponsors many services in support of the students. From the stethoscopes in the beginning to the graduation lunch, we deeply appreciate your contribution to our education.
